

Ms. Margot Wallström, became the first UN Secretary-General's Special Representative on Sexual Violence in Conflict when she was appointed by Mr. Ban Ki-moon in February 2010. Prior to her appointment, Ms. Wallström, a Swedish politician with a long history in defending women's rights, served as Vice-President of the European Commission. Ms. Wallström answered Three Questions at an event in Brussels to mark the International Day of UN Peacekeepers.